MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is committed to maintaining a safe, clean, and physically attractive environment for our students, faculty, staff, patients, and visitors. To that end, I am pleased to present the 2017 Rutgers University Annual Security and Fire Safety Report, Safety Matters.

Campus safety and security at Rutgers is a shared responsibility. Although the vast majority of our students, faculty, staff, patients, and visitors do not experience crime at Rutgers, the best protection against crime is an aware, informed, alert campus community that works with our highly visible and professionally trained public safety staff to keep Rutgers safe.

This report is prepared by University Public Safety within the Division of Institutional Planning & Operations in compliance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act and is intended to disseminate important information to the Rutgers community. The Clery Act was enacted following the victimization of a Lehigh University freshman in 1986. The victim's parents persuaded Congress to enact this law after discovering students had not been notified of violent crimes on campus. As a result of their actions, colleges and universities are required to disclose information about all crimes on and around their campuses.

Compliance with the Clery Act requires collaboration between students, faculty, and staff for the collection of information. University Public Safety works with several university offices and public agencies to compile updated information on their educational efforts and programs to comply with the act. The intent of this publication is not only to communicate mandatory information, such as crime statistics and fire safety data, but also to inform current students and employees of services provided by the Rutgers Police and other public safety units. In addition, this report assists prospective students and their families who are considering Rutgers University by describing the many ways in which we strive to keep our community safe.

Public Safety efforts include high-visibility patrols; responding to and investigating on- and off-campus incidents; providing comprehensive policing, fire safety and security services; and increasing student and employee awareness through crime prevention seminars, workshops, and other activities.

If you have concerns, questions, or comments about federal or state law requirements or Rutgers' compliance with these laws, please contact the Rutgers University Police Department.

Thank you for taking the time to review this information and helping to make Rutgers a safer community.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Barchi
President, Rutgers University

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SAFETY / CHIEF OF UNIVERSITY POLICE

Dear Reader,

Thank you for taking the time to read 'Safety Matters' the 2017 Annual Security and Fire Safety Report (ASR) for Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. The ASR is provided to you in accordance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (20 U.S.C. § 1092(f) or Clery Act. Within these pages you will find a wealth of information regarding the security and safety of Rutgers. Included are crime statistics for the past three calendar years, campus safety and disciplinary policies, on-campus housing fire statistics and safety policies, alcohol and drug policies, and policies that specifically address prevention and response to sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking.

At Rutgers, a comprehensive public safety system is in place that services all members of the campus and off-campus communities. The goal of University Public Safety is to work in partnership with students, faculty, staff, patients and the community to provide a safe, enjoyable and fulfilling university experience.

You can help us reach our goal by following security policies and ensuring that others do not circumvent them. Using common sense safety practices such as walking in groups, reporting suspicious activity, keeping doors and windows securely locked and limiting consumption of alcohol can also reduce the opportunity for victimization. These simple measures will help ensure your own protection.

"Safety Matters" is prepared annually by the Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD). The RUPD gathers statistics from various university departments at Rutgers and from the police agencies of the municipalities in which the University is located. This data collection process is designed to minimize multiple counting of the same criminal incidents and enforcement actions.

We all have an important role to play in keeping our fellow Scarlet Knights and our community safe. The ASR is an excellent resource for security and safety policies, as well as prevention, education and response information. Rutgers University has a great deal of resources for students and employees who are in crisis, and we encourage you to tell us if you need help.

By familiarizing yourself with Rutgers' safety and security policies, you are taking an important step in keeping yourself, your fellow Scarlet Knight and the entire Rutgers community safe.

Sincerely,

Kenneth B. Cop

AN INTERNATIONALLY ACCREDITED LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY

A STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE

On July 30, 2011, the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) awarded the Rutgers University Police Department full advanced law enforcement accreditation. Achieving accreditation represents the completion of a three year department-wide period of self-evaluation which concluded with a thorough review by a team of independent assessors. In receiving the status, CALEA has confirmed that the department met or exceeded 479 standards established by CALEA and accepted by the international law enforcement community as best practices.

The CALEA Law Enforcement Accreditation Program was developed to enhance law enforcement as a profession. The program is open to all types of law enforcement agencies and provides a process to systematically assess agency policies, procedures, and practices. Departments enrolled in the program exhibit a willingness to compare decision making practices with top law enforcement agencies across the world. Participating agencies demonstrate courage to transform processes when presented with unquestionable operating principles. The quest for accreditation represents a desire to achieve professional excellence.

On July 29, 2017, the Rutgers University Police Department was awarded the full advanced law enforcement re-accreditation by the CALEA organization. The re-accreditation award confirms a police department's commitment to maintaining the highest level of excellence in policing. The Rutgers University Police Department has successfully demonstrated its continued compliance with and willingness to meet or exceed the 484 standards established by the Commission and accepted by the international law enforcement community as best practices in policing.

The Rutgers University Police Department is one of only seventeen law enforcement agencies within the State of New Jersey that have achieved CALEA accreditation. There are over 18,000 police departments in the United States alone and CALEA has awarded advanced law enforcement accreditation to just over six hundred departments world-wide, including only 69 college or university Police Departments.

Additional information about law enforcement accreditation can be found at <http://www.calea.org/>.

The Rutgers University Police Department is also accredited through the New Jersey State Chiefs of Police Law Enforcement Accreditation Commission as well as the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA).

PROUDLY SERVING THE RUTGERS UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY SINCE 1963

UNIVERSITY POLICE AUTHORITY

Established pursuant to NJSA 18A:6-4.2, et seq and Rutgers University Policy 30.3.1; the Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD) operates as one entity under the same directives with four locations in Camden, Newark and New Brunswick. Rutgers University maintains a full-time police department with officers who are commissioned by the State of New Jersey's Police Training Commission and possess full enforcement authority of federal and state laws as well as local ordinances. Rutgers Police officers receive the same training and certification as municipal police officers in the state. University police have full enforcement authority to investigate criminal activity and arrest anyone involved in illegal acts, both on and off properties owned and/or controlled by Rutgers throughout the state. Offenses committed by Rutgers students may be referred to the appropriate university judicial board, prosecuted in the courts and in some cases, both.

Rutgers also maintains a full time Security Division consisting of uniformed personnel at university locations in Camden, Newark and New Brunswick. These Security officers are trained in basic security principles and practices and are responsible for the enforcement of parking regulations on campus. Security officers are not sworn and therefore do not have the power to make arrests. Security Officers perform a myriad of security services including providing escorts to students and staff and serving as a proactive presence throughout the community.

Community Service Officers (CSOs) are active full-time Rutgers University students who serve the university community by providing basic security services on campus and at university events. CSOs receive training in security principles and practices but are not sworn officers and do not have the authority to make arrests.

The University Police work closely with the area police departments and each of the County Prosecutors' Offices. We maintain direct communication with municipal police, county and state police as well as federal law enforcement agencies. In addition, the Rutgers Police Department participates in mutual aid agreements. Rutgers Police Department reports crime statistics to the State of New Jersey via the Uniform Crime Report system. We are also members of the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) and State Crime Information Center (SCIC) computer networks, allowing us to receive and transmit information regarding stolen, missing and found property, as well as information about missing or wanted persons.

The Rutgers University Police Department maintains primary police jurisdiction for non-campus locations of student organizations officially recognized by Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey including student organizations with non-campus housing facilities. In addition, through close working relationships with local law enforcement, criminal activity at these locations is monitored and recorded.

Rutgers University contracts with professional Security firms to augment on-site the security presence during large capacity events on its campuses. These individuals are unarmed, not sworn and do not have the authority to make arrests.

Camden, Essex and Middlesex County Prosecutor's Offices

Officers of the Rutgers University Police Department communicate with local law enforcement at the scene of incidents that occur in and around the campus area. The Rutgers University Police Department's Investigations Unit works closely with neighboring investigative staff when incidents arise that require joint investigative efforts, resources, joint task force initiatives, crime related reports, and exchange of information as deemed necessary. A written memorandum of understanding, a mutually agreed upon guideline between law enforcement agencies, exists between the Rutgers University Police Department in New Brunswick and local police departments for the investigation of criminal offenses. Annually, the RUPD collects, reviews, and compiles crime statistics from local law enforcement agencies with jurisdiction within Rutgers University's Clery geographic area.

REPORTING CRIMES OR EMERGENCIES

Students, faculty, staff, patients, community members and guests are encouraged to accurately and promptly report all criminal activity, emergencies and public safety related incidents to the Rutgers University Police Department. Crimes and emergencies should be reported to the appropriate police agencies when the victim of a crime elects to, or is unable to make such a report. This can be done by calling 9-1-1 in the event of an emergency, by calling the RUPD directly at the numbers listed below, or by reporting it to a designated campus security authority. By working together, the university community and the police can reduce crime on campus. When reporting an incident include as much of the following information as possible, including, but not limited to:

- Location of emergency (you should also indicate that you are at Rutgers University as part of your location)
- Nature of the emergency
- Status of the emergency condition (i.e., in progress or completed)
- Any immediate threat(s) to life
- Need for medical or other assistance
- Description, location or direction of travel of suspect(s), description of motor vehicle(s) involved, presence of weapons
- Any danger to emergency responders
- Other information that would aid the emergency response

In an emergency, call 911. Your call will initiate a response from local law enforcement, immediate or otherwise, as dictated by the nature of the incident. If your call is not routed directly to the Rutgers Police, you can request that they contact the RUPD in the geographic location of the incident; either Camden, Newark or New Brunswick. In response to reports of crimes and emergencies, the responding police officer will accurately assess the reported incident and will arrange for the necessary resources to manage the emergency, arrange for victim services as needed or requested, and investigate a crime. Criminal actions will be thoroughly investigated by the RUPD, in coordination with additional law enforcement agencies as needed, and documented in an appropriate report. An investigation will be conducted with the intent of seeking closure of a case through arrest or other appropriate action. In addition to or in lieu of criminal charges, charges can be filed with the Office of Student Conduct. Information about the institutional disciplinary process can be found in this report under the section: Procedures for Reporting a Complaint, on page 29.

You may report suspicious or emergency conditions to any police officer, security officer, emergency service personnel or community service officer that you see. Police and security officers are on duty at all times, patrolling on foot or in police cars. Resident students may also inform their residence assistant or resident counselor on duty.

Circumstances may dictate that students, faculty, staff or patients make their initial report of a criminal offense to a designated campus authority. A designated campus authority includes, but is not limited to directors, deans, department heads, residence life staff, members of judicial affairs, advisors to student organizations, athletic coaches, counselors and local law enforcement agencies. Upon becoming informed of a crime, designated campus authorities are encouraged to bring this information to the attention of the Rutgers University Police Department so that proper investigative action can be taken and an accurate assessment of the potential ongoing threat to the University can be evaluated.

In the event anyone has information regarding crimes on campus, they should immediately notify the RUPD:

CONFIDENTIAL REPORTING / ANONYMOUS CALLER PROCEDURE

If you are the victim of a crime and do not want to pursue action within the University system or the criminal justice system, you may still want to consider making a confidential report. With your permission, an officer from the Rutgers University Police Department can file a report on the details of the incident without revealing your identity. The purpose of a confidential report is to comply with your wish to keep the matter confidential, while taking steps to ensure the future safety of yourself and others. With such information, the University can keep an accurate record of the number of incidents involving students, employees and visitors to determine where there is a pattern of crime with regards to a particular location, method, or assailant; and alert the campus community to potential danger. Reports filed in this manner are counted and disclosed in the annual crime statistics for the University.

PASTORAL AND PROFESSIONAL COUNSELORS

Rutgers University does not encourage pastoral and professional counselors to inform the persons they are counseling of any procedures to report crimes on a voluntary, confidential basis for inclusion in the annual disclosure of crime statistics.

SENSITIVE CRIMES

The RUPD trains its members to assist victims of bias crimes (incidents motivated by prejudice relating to: race, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity, disability, national origin and/or gender identity), sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking. If you are a victim of a bias crime, sexual assault, dating or domestic violence, stalking, or if you see offensive graffiti on campus, contact the police for assistance. The Rutgers Police Department has established liaisons with special interest student organizations (such as the Rutgers University Task Force for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Concerns) and is willing to work with all student groups in this regard.

Through the Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance and/or County Office of Victim Witness a trained domestic violence response team and a sexual assault response team is on-call 24 hours a day to assist victims of sexual violence or domestic violence. Information about the Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance can be found on their website at vpva.rutgers.edu.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

Rutgers University Public Safety has personnel assigned 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to monitor events on campus. Rutgers police officers and supervisors have received training in Incident Command and responding to critical incidents on campus. General information about the emergency response and evacuation procedures for Rutgers University are publicized each year as part of the institution's Clery Act compliance efforts and that information is available on the Rutgers University Police Department website.

The Rutgers Office of Emergency Management (OEM) has developed a University Emergency Action Plan to address various campus emergencies. The complete plan is available to view or print by visiting the emergency management website at emergency.rutgers.edu. The following topics are addressed:

- Emergency Action Plan
- Reporting an Emergency
- Active Shooter
- Suspicious Person
- Bomb Threat
- Medical Emergency
- Emergency information
- Utility Outages
- Fire Extinguishers
- Chemical Spill
- Radiological Spill
- Injury/Illness
- Suspicious Mail
- Public Safety Numbers
- Thunderstorms/Lightning
- Fire Prevention Plan
- Sheltering in Place
- Workplace Violence
- Civil Disturbance/Hostage
- Psychological Crisis
- Important University Numbers

OEM tests the emergency action plans on an annual basis. The tests include but are not limited to drills, tabletops, functional exercises, and full scale simulations. The community will be notified of these tests through the use of Campus Information Services in addition to e-mails, flyers, electronic display boards and media releases. The tests are reviewed in an after action report which highlights the noteworthy and/or deficient performances of the participants.

IMMEDIATE NOTIFICATION

Rutgers University will immediately notify the campus community upon the confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees occurring on the campus.

In the event of an emergent situation, Rutgers Public Safety Personnel will, without delay, and taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system, unless issuing a notification will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency. Rutgers Public Safety personnel have an Emergency Operation Communications Plan and Emergency Notification Procedures that provide for the immediate notification of the campus community upon the confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students and/or staff occurring on the campus. An emergency or dangerous situation that requires the activation of the Emergency Notification System will be identified and confirmed by appropriate Public Safety administrative personnel prior to activating the system.

2017 SAFETY MATTERS REPORT

Members of the community are encouraged to visit <http://ens.rutgers.edu> to sign up for emergency text notifications, review information about communications and basic safety procedures to use in the event of an emergency that threatens public safety.

Upon being notified or receiving information regarding an incident that may pose a threat to the campus community, it is the responsibility of the on duty police supervisor to review the available information, confirm that the emergency or dangerous situation exists, determine which segment(s) of the campus community are effected and determine if the activation of the Emergency Notification System (ENS) is appropriate. In this context, confirmation means an institution official (or officials) has verified that a legitimate emergency or dangerous situation exists. Confirmation does not necessarily mean that all of the pertinent details are known or even available. Sound judgment is employed in carefully evaluating all known intelligence about a reported incident when deciding whether to activate the ENS.

Access to and activation of the ENS can be conducted by the following Public Safety Personnel:

- Executive Director of Public Safety / Chief of University Police
- Deputy Chief of University Police
- Chief of Campus Police/Camden, Chief of Campus Police/Newark
- Captain of Police/New Brunswick, Captain of Police/Camden, Captain of Police/Newark
- Chief of Emergency Services, Captains of Emergency Services
- Emergency Management Director
- Police Commanders & Supervisors, Communications Center Personnel
- University Media Relations Staff

In the absence of an administrator, a trained police commander or supervisor is authorized to access and use the emergency notification system by directing trained communications personnel to issue timely, emergency campus alerts.

The initial notification is made via text to cell phones. Secondary means of notification include: email; website announcements; Nixle® community notification platform; community radio and local news outlets. Emergency notification messages will be as brief and concise as possible and the recipients of the message will be narrowed to include those individuals who are most likely to benefit, including groups such as geographic locations and students or staff. The University Police Department will determine how much information is appropriate to disseminate at different points in time based, in part, upon the needs of the intended recipient(s) and the totality of the incident. The messages are intended to notify the community and therefore will be tailored to include information necessary to allow a recipient to retreat to a position of safety. More detailed information will be sent to the affected community through an e-mail message and will be posted on the campus operating page campusstatus.rutgers.edu. This procedure of disseminating emergency information allows University Public Safety to provide notification to the larger community. The University community will be informed when the incident is resolved and no longer poses a threat to the University community.

Each semester University Public Safety conducts an announced test of the emergency notification system to the University Community. The test consists of sending a 'test' message to the subscribers of the emergency text message notification system (ENS). This bi-annual test is thoroughly documented by Public Safety employees to include a description of the test procedures, date, time and outcome of the test.

To sign up for or manage your subscription to the text notification system, visit ens.rutgers.edu. Crime Alerts can also be viewed on the RUPD website at rupd.rutgers.edu/crime.php.

For questions or problems concerning the Rutgers ENS, contact the Rutgers Help Desk in Camden 856-225-6274, Newark 973-353-5083 or New Brunswick 732-445-HELP (4357) or email RUOEM@aps.rutgers.edu.

TIMELY WARNINGS

Rutgers University, in its commitment to safety on campus and in compliance with the Clery Act, has procedures in place to alert the campus community in a timely manner of certain crimes reported to the University Police that occur either on or near campus. In the event of a Clery reportable crime that, in the judgment of the Chief of University Police or other authorized command staff member, constitutes a serious or continuing threat to the University community, a campus wide timely warning, also known as a "Crime Alert" will be issued. The Chief of University Police and/or other authorized police command staff member develop the content of the message and initiates the distribution of the timely warning.

The warning will be issued through the Rutgers University email system to students, faculty, and staff on the impacted campus(es). Notifications may also be made via text message for those who sign up for the text notification service through Nixle®. The purpose of a timely warning or 'Crime Alert' is to maintain an informed campus and to enable members of the campus community to better protect themselves. Additionally, Crime Alerts will provide the impacted community with available information that will aid in the prevention of similar occurrences. It is the policy of Rutgers that, when issuing timely warnings about crimes occurring on or near campus, the names of victims are considered confidential and will, therefore, be withheld from the messages.

Off Campus Crime Alerts

Rutgers University will also prepare and disseminate Off Campus Crime Alerts for serious incidents against Rutgers students, faculty, and staff which occur in areas that are reasonably contiguous to the campus boundaries and those areas surrounding the campuses when the university is made aware of such incidents.

EMERGENCY PHONES

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY-CAMDEN

Emergency alarms are located in many women's and some men's restrooms. These are activated by pushing a button. The location of the emergency phone or alarm call is automatically displayed to the University Police, and a police officer is dispatched immediately to the site.

Residence Hall Phones

Residence hall telephones are provided in the entrance lobby in view of the security officer. In addition, each suite has a telephone that may be used to call any campus location, including housing staff, the security officer, and police headquarters. Many students also have private telephone service at their own expense.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY-NEWARK & RUTGERS BIOMEDICAL AND HEALTH SCIENCES AT NEWARK

Red emergency phones are located in the interiors of the Center for Law and Justice, Bradley Hall, Ackerson Hall, the Institute of Animal Behavior, Blumenthal Hall, and Parking Deck I & II. Simply lift the receiver of an emergency phone and a police dispatcher will answer.

Coin-Operated Phones

A coin is not needed for emergency use of campus coin-operated phones. Simply dial "0" and ask to be connected with the Rutgers University Police Department in Newark.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY-NEW BRUNSWICK

If outside on campus, you can use one of the many emergency phones identified by a "blue" light. Simply lift the receiver or push the red button and a police dispatcher will answer.

Residence Hall Phones

Most residence halls have telephones in hallways and outside the building next to entry doors. These phones dial local calls and are also equipped with one-button dialers to police headquarters.

CREATING A SAFE CAMPUS

ACCESS TO UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS

Access to university buildings other than residence halls is available to Rutgers students, faculty, staff, and patients - with an authorized purpose. In other words, it is the policy of Rutgers that access to University facilities is issued only to authorized individuals, units or departments when required for the daily conduct of University business. There are two types of key systems used for access to University buildings, the standard metal key which is issued for most interior building doors and some exterior doors and the plastic card key which is needed for exterior entrance doors and selected interior doors where electronic card access is required. These card access systems are installed only by an authorized Public Safety authority and are used on every Residence Hall.

Access to Rutgers Biomedical and Health Sciences buildings is restricted to persons wearing a University photographic ID card, visitors with a valid pass, and patients with a wristband ID. All patients and visitors are asked to remain in their designated areas. University photographic identification cards are issued to faculty, staff, students, and volunteers and must be worn in plain view at all times. ID cards also serve as electronic access control cards for admittance to many University facilities.

RESIDENCE HALL SECURITY

Access to residence halls is restricted to residents and their guests as described below. Entrances to residence halls and apartments are locked at all times. Some suites are equipped with separate entrances and individual room locks. All residence halls at Rutgers University–New Brunswick are equipped with electronic access control systems. At Rutgers University–Newark and Rutgers University–Camden; access is restricted by the physical presence of uniformed security officers.

Each residence hall room, suite, or apartment has its own lock and key. Keys do not contain room numbers, so if lost, they cannot be identified with a particular room. All rooms have locking windows. Ground floor rooms and those connecting to or near fire escapes are also equipped with security screens. Anyone in university buildings for an unauthorized purpose is subject to arrest for trespassing by the Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD).

Public Safety and Residence Life staff regularly monitor these facilities through the use of CCTV technologies as well as scheduled, unscheduled and random patrols.

GUESTS OF STUDENT RESIDENTS

University housing is provided for the exclusive use of Rutgers students properly assigned by the appropriate housing office. Students who bring guests are responsible for making relevant university regulations known to them and must accept responsibility for their conduct during the visit.

No student may permit extended use of housing to any guest when such use becomes the primary residence of the guest. No student may have any visitor who becomes a source of complaint. Host students have complete responsibility for all guests. Students accused of violating visitor policies may be subject to judicial action.

SECURITY CONSIDERATIONS

Doors and windows that lock securely, properly operating alarm systems, well-lit campus walkways and parking areas - these are important elements of a safe campus environment. Proper maintenance of campus facilities and prompt response to emergency situations are integral parts of Rutgers' campus safety program.

Access control systems that require students, faculty, staff, and visitors to swipe identification cards to gain access into university facilities have been put in place at various locations. To date we have over 1,000 access controlled doors at the university and that number continues to grow. It is important to remember that these state-of-the-art technologies are utilized for your safety and you can help support these practices by not circumventing existing systems or allowing others to do so.

SECURITY MAINTENANCE

Problems with safety-related hardware (such as doors, locks, windows, lights, security screens, etc.) in all buildings should be reported promptly for repair. Facilities maintenance engineers are available 24 hours a day, seven days per week. After normal business hours, repair requests should be reported to hall directors, residence counselors or advisors. Emergency requests should be directed to the Rutgers University Police Department.

Rutgers has installed and maintains exterior lighting around all University Facilities, as well as additional sidewalk and roadway lighting, to keep the campus well lit. Shrubbery maintenance is conducted with both security and appearance in mind.

FACILITIES MAINTENANCE

The Rutgers University Facilities Operations Services provides preventative, reactive and emergency maintenance as well as the repair of all fixed mechanical building systems, utility systems, exterior envelopes, structures, select interior common space cosmetic enhancements, classroom space and furnishings and grounds. In addition to mechanical maintenance, the maintenance of interior and exterior space also includes routine trash and recyclable removal, pest control, and weather related removals.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES

The Rutgers Department of Emergency Services provides a state-licensed ambulance service which provides emergency medical care to the university community. The program is staffed by New Jersey certified Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) who, in addition to emergency response, provide standby services at major university events.

FIRE SAFETY SERVICES

Fire safety is a major component of our overall safety and security program. State certified fire inspectors provide fire safety awareness training sessions in the residence halls and conduct emergency evacuation drills to familiarize occupants with emergency procedures. University officials inspect all university buildings and enforce the New Jersey Uniform Fire Code. The City of Newark Fire Department, the largest full-time paid fire department in the state, responds to emergencies at Rutgers University-Newark. The Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD) and the Division of Student Affairs have launched the Off-Campus Partnership Pilot Program. This initiative has been spearheaded by the Off-Campus Living and Community Partnerships Department and will begin in September 2016. In an effort to increase awareness of university resources for off-campus students, improve community relations with New Brunswick residents, and to reduce off-campus crime, this pilot program was developed to offer a variety of services to the community including:

Some are assigned vehicles and some are on walking posts. Additional funding was secured to for two new security patrols in the wards. This will consist of one to two security officers at night patrolling the 5th and 6th Wards of New Brunswick in marked security vehicles. They will provide escort services as well as act for an extra set of eyes and ears for our police department. These vehicles will be equipped with “alley lights” which they will use to announce their presence in the area.

VIOLENCE PREVENTION & CRIME VICTIM ASSISTANCE

Rutgers is committed to creating a community free from violence where all members treat one another with respect and human dignity. Recognizing that our society is imperfect and that crime occurs both on and off campus, Rutgers has created the Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance which offers programs and services for students, staff, and faculty to promote ways of both preventing crime and responding to the needs of crime victims.

The Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance (VPVA) is committed to serving members of the Rutgers community who are victims of interpersonal violence and all types of crime. The VPVA offers a broad range of services to victims and to those close to them which are free and confidential. ## ASSISTANCE FOR VICTIMS: RIGHTS AND OPTIONS

Regardless of whether a victim elects to pursue a criminal complaint or whether the offense is alleged to have occurred on or off campus, the university will assist victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking and will provide each victim with a written explanation of their rights and options. Under New Jersey law, a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking has the following rights:

CAMPUS SEXUAL ASSAULT VICTIM'S BILL OF RIGHTS INTRODUCTION

A college or university in a free society must be devoted to the pursuit of truth and knowledge through reason and open communication among its members. Academic communities acknowledge the necessity of being intellectually stimulating where the diversity of ideas is valued. Its rules must be conceived for the purpose of furthering and protecting the rights of all members of the university community in achieving these ends.

The boundaries of personal freedom are limited by applicable state and federal laws and institutional rules and regulations governing interpersonal behavior. In creating a community free from violence, sexual assault, and nonconsensual sexual contact, respect for the individual and human dignity are of paramount importance.

The state of New Jersey and Rutgers recognize that the impact of violence on victims and the surrounding community can be severe and long lasting. Thus, this Bill of Rights has been established to articulate requirements for policies, procedures, and services designed to ensure that the needs of victims are met and that the colleges and universities in New Jersey create and maintain communities that support human dignity.

BILL OF RIGHTS

The following rights shall be accorded to victims of sexual assaults that occur:

- on the campus of any public or independent institution of higher education in the State of New Jersey, and Further, Rutgers University complies with New Jersey law in recognizing orders of protection and by assisting victims in the process of obtaining legal protection orders. Additionally, the University may issue an institutional no contact order if deemed appropriate or at the request of the victim or accused. To the extent of the victim's cooperation and needs, university offices will work cooperatively to ensure that the complainant's health, physical safety, work and academic status are protected, pending the outcome of a formal university investigation of the complaint. For example, if reasonably available, a complainant may be offered changes to academic, living, or working situations in addition to counseling, health services, visa and immigration assistance and assistance in notifying appropriate local law enforcement.

Finally, personal identifiable information about the victim will be treated as confidential and only shared with persons with a specific need to know who are investigating/adjudicating the complaint or delivering resources or support services to the complainant. Further, the institution will maintain as confidential any accommodations or protective measures provided to the victim to the extent that maintaining such confidentiality would not impair the ability of the institution to provide the accommodations or protective measures. The University does not publish the name of crime victims nor report identifiable information regarding victims in the police department's Daily Crime Log or Crime Alerts.

Sexual Assault, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking

Rutgers prohibits the offenses of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking and reaffirms its commitment to maintain an environment emphasizing the dignity and worth of all members of the community. Rutgers issues this statement of policy to inform the community of our comprehensive plan addressing sexual misconduct, educational programs, and procedures that address sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking, whether the incident occurs on or off campus and when it is reported to a University official.

The University will provide resources, on campus off campus or both, to include medical, health, to persons who have been victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, and will apply appropriate disciplinary procedures to those who violate this policy. The procedures set forth below are intended to afford a prompt response to charges of sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, and stalking, to maintain confidentiality and fairness consistent with applicable legal requirements, and to impose appropriate sanctions on violators of this policy.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES

Sexual assault, often referred to as rape, is a serious crime. Reporting a sexual assault can be difficult and may seem overwhelming at times. If you have been a victim or witness to a sexual assault which has occurred on campus, you are strongly encouraged to report the incident to the RUPD by dialing 9-1-1 (from a campus Centrex phone obtain an outside line then dial 9-1-1), pick up an emergency telephone or call the Non-Emergency Police number as soon as possible. The Non-Emergency Police phone numbers, if using a cellular, are CAMDEN 856-225-6111; NEWARK 973-353-5111; NEW BRUNSWICK 732-932-7211; RBHS at Newark 973-972-4491. The Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD) treats victims with respect, courtesy, and dignity, believing that a victim's safety and privacy are of major importance. Filing a report does not commit you to pursuing an investigation or prosecution and the University Police will respect your decision.

If the assault occurred off campus, report the incident to the municipal police where the assault occurred. The RUPD will assist individuals who are unsure of how and where to report the crime. Once you call the RUPD, a Police Officer will meet with you privately, at a place of your choice, in the campus area. The officer will conduct an interview and any subsequent investigation in a sensitive and caring manner.

An RUPD Officer or Investigator will attend to your medical, emotional, and physical needs, secure the scene and attempt to determine the identity and location of the suspect. The RUPD Officer will provide a thorough explanation of the investigative process. The University Police will assist in arranging the medical exam and will provide transportation to and from the county rape crisis center/hospital where the exam is conducted, where indicated.

The RUPD will also assist you in contacting other available resources, such as local police departments, state agencies, the County Victim Assistance Office and the County Sex Crimes Unit. The RUPD will contact a victim advocate from the Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance to provide you with support through the interview process, as well as for continued counseling and assistance throughout the process.

The victim advocate will provide information regarding the medical exam, options for filing charges through the University Code of Student Conduct (if the assailant is a Rutgers student), and assistance in deciding whom you will tell about the assault.

If you are unsure of the course of action to take, or what kinds of options are available, you can call the RUPD and speak with a trained Investigator. After 4:30 p.m. or on weekends you can call and ask the dispatcher to contact the on call victim assistance staff member. Speaking with a representative will not result in a police investigation or any police intervention. Victims have the right to decline to notify law enforcement or other campus authorities.

While making the decision about whether to report the assault, it is important to consider that as time passes, evidence may dissipate or become lost or unavailable, thereby making investigation, possible prosecution, disciplinary proceedings, or obtaining protection from abuse orders related to the incident more difficult. If a victim chooses not to make a complaint regarding an incident, he or she nevertheless should consider speaking with the Rutgers Police or other law enforcement to preserve evidence in the event that the victim changes his/her mind at a later date.

PROCEDURES FOR REPORTING A COMPLAINT

The University strongly encourages students, faculty, staff, and patients to report all conduct prohibited by this Policy directly to a University official, to a Title IX Coordinator or to the Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD) as promptly as possible so that the University can investigate and respond effectively. Reports may be made in person, in writing, via telephone, via electronic mail, or online at <http://compliance.rutgers.edu/title-ix/>.

Any student may meet with a Title IX Coordinator, RUPD and/or any confidential resource to ask questions about the process before deciding to make a report.

If a report of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking is reported to the University, the below are the procedures that the University will follow as well as a statement of the standard of evidence that will be used during any judicial hearing on campus arising from such a report. These procedures are intended to afford a prompt response to charges of sexual assault, domestic or dating violence, and stalking, to maintain confidentiality and fairness consistent with applicable legal requirements, and to impose appropriate sanctions on violators of this policy.

University Disciplinary Proceedings for Complaints of Sexual Misconduct for Students (University Policy 10.3.12)

To comply with the requirements of Title IX and VAWA, the University has developed grievance procedures that provide for prompt, fair, equitable and impartial investigation and resolution of allegations of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking. For these purposes, a proceeding means all activities related to a non-criminal resolution of an institutional disciplinary complaint, including, but not limited to, fact finding investigations, formal or informal meetings, and hearings. Proceeding does not include communications and meetings between officials and victims concerning accommodations or protective measures to be provided to a victim.

A prompt, fair and impartial proceeding includes a proceeding that is:

- Completed within reasonably prompt timeframes designated by an institution's policy, including a process that allows for the extensions of timeframe for good cause with written notice to the accuser and the accused of the delay and the reason for the delay;

Conducted in a manner that:

- Is consistent with the institution's policies and transparent to the accuser and accused; and
- Includes timely notice of meetings at which the accuser or accused, or both, may be present; and
- Provides timely and equal access to the accuser, the accused and appropriate officials to any information that will be used during informal and formal disciplinary meetings and hearings; and
- Is conducted by officials who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against the accuser or the accused.

In addition, disciplinary proceedings will be conducted by officials who, at a minimum, receive annual training on the issues related to dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking and on how to conduct an investigation and hearing process that protects the safety of victims and promotes accountability.

These procedures apply to all University students, including Camden, Newark, New Brunswick and RBHS. The proceedings detailed below are excerpted from the full Title IX Grievance Procedures, which can be found on the Student Conduct website (<http://studentconduct.rutgers.edu>), and on the Office of Student Affairs Compliance Title IX website (<http://compliance.rutgers.edu/Title-ix>).

The University has several Title IX Coordinators, whose offices are located throughout the University, as well as a Title IX Compliance Officer who serves as the Lead Title IX Coordinator for the University. The Title IX Coordinators serve as the central points of contact for all University students affected by conduct prohibited by this Policy and oversee the administration of this Policy in a neutral and equitable manner. The Title IX Coordinators are also responsible for overseeing the University's response to all reports and complaints of conduct prohibited by this Policy, and identifying and addressing any patterns or systemic problems revealed by such reports and complaints.

Rights of the Complainant and Respondent

The University is committed to providing accessible, prompt, thorough and fair methods of investigation and resolution of incidents reported under this Policy to all University students. To this end, both the Complainant and Respondent are entitled to the following rights throughout the investigation and hearing processes set forth the University Policy, subject to the terms of the Policy.

1. To be treated with dignity by all persons involved in the investigation and disciplinary process.
2. To a prompt and thorough investigation of the allegations.
3. To a fair hearing.
4. To equal access to information, evidence and University resources, including information pertaining to counseling services.
5. To information about this Policy.
6. To participate or to decline to participate in the investigation or hearing process.
7. To have an advisor of their choosing present at all meetings and hearings.
8. To written notice of all meetings and hearings, including the time and place. Proper written notification shall be defined as delivery of mail to a student's local or permanent address, as reported by the student to the University Registrar, or an e-mail message sent to the email account established as his or her official e-mail. Students shall be held responsible for the contents of mail sent to reported addresses and e-mail messages sent to their established e-mail accounts. Students have the responsibility for providing the University with current addresses, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers.
9. To present information and/or witnesses on their behalf during the investigation and hearing process. The relevancy of witnesses shall be determined by the Title IX Coordinator or their designee during the investigation phase, and by the Hearing Officer during the hearing phase.
10. To choose not to present information against themselves. Students do not have to speak at any meeting, conference or hearing and no negative inference will be made should a student choose not to speak.
11. To hear and respond to all information presented against them.
12. To one (1) written copy of the investigation report stating the allegations, information gathered from all parties and witnesses, and the Title IX Coordinator's determination as to whether the information gathered could constitute a violation of this Policy.
13. To adequate time to review the investigation report and any evidence that will be presented to the Hearing Officer.
14. To notice of the charges (including what prohibited conduct is at issue) that will be presented to the Hearing Officer and reasonable notice of the date and time of the hearing.
15. To have any unrelated past behavior excluded from the investigation and disciplinary process, as determined by the Title IX Coordinator or Hearing Officer.
16. To submit written materials to the Hearing Officer relevant to the sanction decision, which may include a written impact statement by the Complainant and a statement of mitigating factors by the Respondent.
17. To be free from intimidation, harassment, bullying, or any other form of retaliation throughout the investigation and disciplinary process.
18. To written notification of the results of the hearing or other case resolution, including any sanctions imposed.
19. To be informed of their right to appeal and of the process for doing so.
20. To written notification of the outcome of any appeal.
21. To privacy throughout the investigation and disciplinary process with respect to campus and other media, and from all other uninvolved parties.
22. To an opportunity to challenge the investigator(s), Title IX Coordinator, Hearing Officer, Appeals Officer or any other staff or administrator involved in the investigation, hearing or appeal process for a possible conflict of interest.
23. To understand that information collected in the process may be subpoenaed in criminal or civil proceedings.
24. To have reasonable steps taken to prevent any unnecessary or unwanted contact with the other party(ies) during the investigation and hearing process.

Additionally, the Complainant has the right to report the incident to law enforcement at any time. The University also adheres to the New Jersey Campus Sexual Assault Victim's Bill of Rights.

Campus Advisors and Support Persons

The complainant and respondent, respectively, may be accompanied to any meeting or hearing related to an incident of sexual misconduct by a campus advisor and/or support person of their choice. An advisor is any individual who provides the complainant and respondent support, guidance or advice. An advisor may be a friend, family member, lawyer or other individual of the student's choosing. Advisors and support persons may support the student and provide advice about the investigation and disciplinary process. During meetings and hearings, the advisor and/or support person may talk quietly with the student or pass notes in a non-disruptive manner. The advisor and/or support person may not intervene in a meeting or hearing or address the investigator or Hearing Officer, including by questioning witnesses or making objections. Failure to comply with these mandates may result in the advisor or support person being prohibited from attending any investigatory meetings and/or the hearing(s).

It is the responsibility of the student to make sure their advisor is present at meetings and hearings. Advisor availability shall not be sufficient grounds for postponing meetings or hearings.

Complainants and respondents are free to consult with or retain an attorney of their choice and may elect to designate their attorney as their support person. However, like all campus advisors and support persons, the attorney may not intervene or disrupt the proceedings. The University will obtain a signed release from students prior to discussing any information about a report or complaint with their advisor.

Time Frames

The University will seek to resolve every report under this Policy within sixty (60) calendar days of an initial report, not counting any appeal. The University recognizes that each case has its own unique circumstances, and time frames for each stage of the process may vary depending on the details of a case and at certain times of the academic year (for example, during breaks, study periods or final exams). The University may extend any time frame for good cause, with a written explanation to the Complainant and Respondent.

The University's process for responding to, investigating and adjudicating reports under this Policy will continue during any law enforcement proceeding or civil proceeding. The investigation may need to be temporarily delayed while the police are gathering evidence but the investigation will be resumed once the police department has completed its evidence-gathering and generally will not wait for the conclusion of any related criminal proceeding.

Interim Measures

In all cases, the University will take appropriate steps designed to mitigate the effects of the alleged prohibited conduct, prevent its recurrence, and make accommodations for the students involved. Such interim measures may include, but are not limited to, academic, residential, and work accommodations; increased monitoring, supervision, or security at locations or in connection with activities where the alleged incident occurred; training and educational materials for the campus community; and/or protective measures (including, but not limited to, an interim suspension of the Respondent as set forth in Section VII(A) of the Code of Student Conduct). Under appropriate circumstances, available academic, residential and work-related accommodations may include:

- Moving a student's campus residence;
- Adjusting a student's work schedule for University employment;
- Changing a student's academic schedule;
- Changing a student's transportation arrangements;
- Allowing a student to withdraw from or retake a class without penalty;
- Providing access to tutoring or other academic support and/or
- Issuing a "no contact" order.

Any decisions regarding interim measures shall be made by the appropriate Title IX Coordinator, in consultation with relevant University administrators. Such action may be taken in the immediate aftermath of an incident and/or while an investigation or a disciplinary action is pending. It is not necessary to file a complaint under this Policy, participate in the adjudication process, or file a criminal complaint in order to request services or accommodations from the University. Students may request accommodations even in cases where the Complainant has requested that no investigation be undertaken or the Complainant or Respondent has declined to participate in University disciplinary proceedings or the criminal process.

Following a report of an incident, the Complainant will be provided written notice of the interim measures and accommodations that may be available. The Respondent will be provided such notice if and when it is determined that an investigation or informal resolution will proceed. The Title IX Coordinator will evaluate any request for interim measures or accommodations in light of the circumstances and information available at the time. The Title IX Coordinator will seek to minimize unreasonable burdens on either party; however, every reasonable effort will be made to allow the Complainant to continue in their academic, University housing, and/or University employment arrangements. The Title IX Coordinator will also assist students seeking accommodations for a disability in connection with the process of reporting or responding to conduct prohibited by this Policy, by working with the appropriate disability services office.

The University will provide information about interim measures and accommodations only to those who need to know in order to make them effective.

Hearing Procedures

The hearing is a closed proceeding, meaning that no one other than the Hearing Officer, the Complainant and Respondent, their respective advisors, witnesses (when called), and necessary University personnel may be present in the hearing room or rooms during the proceeding. The Title IX Coordinator will work with other University personnel so that any student whose presence is required may participate in the hearing.

In general, hearings will proceed as follows:

- Presentation of the investigation report by the investigator, followed by questions to the investigator by the Hearing Officer.
- Complainant statement, followed by questions to the Complainant by the Hearing Officer.
- Respondent statement, followed by questions to the Respondent by the Hearing Officer.
- Witness testimony and questioning by the Hearing Officer.
- Closing statement by Complainant.
- Closing statement by Respondent.

The Hearing Officer may set reasonable time limits for any part of the hearing. The Complainant and Respondent each will have the opportunity to present witnesses and other information consistent with the Policy. The Hearing Officer may determine the relevance of, place restrictions on, or exclude any witnesses or information. When the Complainant and Respondent are not able to be physically present for the hearing, arrangements will be made for participation via alternate means.

Either the Complainant or Respondent may opt not to participate in the hearing, in which case the Hearing Officer may still hear from the other.

Written Notification

The Office of the Title IX Coordinator, or his or her designee, will give the complainant and respondent, respectively, a written explanation of their rights and options, and any available interim measures and accommodations, as soon as possible after an incident is reported. The Office will also ensure that both the complainant and respondent are updated throughout the investigative process, including with timely notice of meetings where either or both the complainant and the respondent may be present.

More specifically, the complainant and respondent will simultaneously be given the following written notices:

1. Conclusion of the Investigation.
  - Notice of an opportunity to review the investigative report and any other information that will be used in the disciplinary proceedings, consistent with federal law governing the privacy of student information.
2. Administrative Resolution.
  - Notice of whether the respondent accepts responsibility for violating the Policy.
  - Notice of the date and time of any hearing and name(s) of the hearing officer.
  - Notice of the hearing officer's finding of "responsible" or "not responsible"; along with the rationale for the outcome, as well as notice of the sanctions imposed and the reasons for the sanctions. This notice will include an explanation of the University's appeals process.
3. Appeals Process.
  - Notice of whether an appeal has been filed.
  - Notice of whether the responsibility determination or sanctions have been modified.
  - Notice when the responsibility determination and sanctions become final.

Determinations and Standard of Proof

The Hearing Officer will use "preponderance of the evidence" as the standard of evidence to determine whether a violation of the Code of Student Conduct occurred. Preponderance of the evidence means that the Hearing Officer must be convinced based on the information considered that the Respondent was more likely than not to have engaged in the conduct at issue in order to find the Respondent responsible for violating this Policy.

For purposes of this policy, result means any initial, interim, and final decision by any official or entity authorized to resolve disciplinary matters within the institution. The result must include any sanctions imposed by the institution. Notwithstanding section 444 of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. 1232g), commonly referred to as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), the result must also include the rationale for the result and the sanctions.

The Hearing Officer generally will render a written decision within two (2) days after the conclusion of a hearing. The decision will include an explanation of the basis for the decision. If the Respondent is found responsible, the Hearing Officer will determine the appropriate sanction(s) as set forth below, which will be included in the written decision with an explanation of the rationale for imposing the particular sanction. The Hearing Officer's finding of "responsible" or "not responsible"; along with the rationale for the outcome, as well as notice of the sanctions imposed and the rationale for the sanction(s), will be provided in writing simultaneously to the Complainant and the Respondent. This notice will include an explanation of the University's appeals process.

NOTE

Pursuant to federal law, if the Hearing Officer does not find that the Respondent committed an act of forcible sexual violence, the Complainant may only be advised of sanctions imposed against the Respondent that directly relate to the Complainant.

Sanctions

Disciplinary sanctions are imposed when students are found in violation of University regulations. The purpose of sanctioning is to educate a student as to why her or his behavior is inappropriate, as well as to make the student aware of and sensitive to all the possible consequences of the behavior in question. Sanctions for misconduct will be determined on a case by case basis.

The Hearing Officer will impose sanctions that are:

- Fair and appropriate given the facts of the particular case;
- Consistent with the University's handling of similar cases;
- Adequate to protect the safety of the campus community; and
- Reflective of the seriousness of sexual misconduct.

The Hearing Officer will consider the recommended sanction and will consult the University Title IX Coordinator to obtain information about sanctions imposed in similar cases. However, the Hearing Officer will determine the appropriate sanctions to impose.

The Hearing Officer will consider relevant factors, including, if applicable: (1) the nature of the prohibited conduct at issue (such as penetration, touching under clothing, touching over clothing, unauthorized recording, etc.); (2) the circumstances accompanying the lack of consent (such as force, threat, coercion, intentional incapacitation, etc.); (3) the Respondent's state of mind (intentional, knowing, bias-motivated, reckless, negligent, etc.); (4) the impact of the offense on the Complainant; (5) the Respondent's prior disciplinary history; (6) the safety of the University community; (7) the Respondent's conduct during the disciplinary process; and (8) precedent established by previous sanctions.

The Rutgers University Sanctioning Process is discussed in depth within the pages of the Rutgers University Sanction Guide. The guide is available online at:

<https://slwordpress.rutgers.edu/studentconduct/wp-content/uploads/sites/46/2014/12/SanctionGuide.pdf>

Appeals

Either the respondent or the complainant or both may appeal the decision of the Hearing Officer. Appeals are decided by the appropriate Senior Student Affairs officer ("Appeals Officer") of the appealing party's school and/or division, or such person's designee. If both the Complainant and Respondent appeal, the appeals will be considered concurrently.

Consistent with the Code of Student Conduct, the four grounds for appeal are:

1. Unsupported Conclusion: The decision made by the Hearing Officer is not supported by the facts of the case.
2. Procedural Error: The hearing was conducted unfairly and not in conformance with prescribed procedures. The error committed must be determined to have substantially impacted the fairness of the disciplinary process.
3. New Information: There is new information available that was not available at the time of the hearing and that is sufficient to alter the original decision.
4. Disproportionate Sanction: The sanction imposed against the student was not appropriate for the offense committed.

Disagreement with the finding or sanctions is not, by itself, ground for appeals. The fact that any criminal charges based on the same conduct were dismissed, reduced or resolved in favor of the Respondent does not require, and will not necessarily result in, a change in the disciplinary decisions and/or sanctions.

The appealing student must submit the appeal in writing to the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs of his or her school within five days after receiving the Hearing Officer's written decision. If either the complainant or respondent submits an appeal, the Title IX Coordinator will notify the other that an appeal has been filed and the grounds of the appeal. The non-appealing student may submit a written response within five days after notice of an appeal.

The appealing student must submit the appeal in writing to the Appeals Officer within five days after receiving the Hearing Officer's written decision. Failure to submit a written appeal within this five-day period forfeits the right to appeal under this Policy, regardless of the outcome of the other party's appeal (if submitted). If either the Complainant or Respondent submits an appeal, the Title IX Coordinator will notify the other that an appeal has been filed and the grounds of the appeal. The non-appealing student may submit a written response within five (5) days after notice of an appeal.

The Appeals Officer may solicit written clarification on any issue raised on appeal from the Hearing Officer assigned to the case, the Title IX Coordinator, the investigator, the Complainant, or the Respondent. In preparation of an appeal, the Respondent and Complainant may have access to the recording of the disciplinary hearing. Appeals are decided upon the record of the original proceeding and any written information submitted by any of the parties. The Appeals Officer shall not substitute his or her judgment for the decision of the original Hearing Officer or attempt to rehear the case.

Following the Appeals Officer's review of all information, he or she will:

- Affirm the finding and sanction originally determined; OR
- Affirm the finding and modify the sanction; OR
- Remand the case for a new hearing.

Sanctions should only be modified if they are found to be clearly disproportionate to the gravity of the violation and/or precedent for similar offenses. Cases should only be recommended for remand for a new hearing if the Hearing Officer's conclusion is unsupported, specified procedural errors were so substantial they effectively denied the Respondent or Complainant a fair hearing, or new information merits a new hearing.

The imposition of sanctions may be deferred during the appellate process and the status of the student shall not change until the Appeals Officer issues a final decision, except that a hold may be placed on the student's transcript and no degree will be awarded to the Respondent pending completion of the appeals process. Interim actions may also be taken or continued while the case is going through the appeals process to protect the Complainant.

The Appeals Officer will notify the Complainant and Respondent simultaneously of the final decision on appeal in writing. Appeals decisions will be rendered within ten days after the receipt of the written appeal. All appeals decisions are final and not subject to further review. Once the appeals process is completed, it shall be the responsibility of the Director of Student Conduct or Chancellor's designee (where the Respondent is enrolled at RBHS, Newark and Camden) to oversee the implementation of imposed sanctions.

Victim Notification

Rutgers University will, upon written request, disclose to the alleged victim of a crime of violence or a non-forcible sex offense, the report on the results of any disciplinary proceeding conducted by the institution against a student who is the alleged perpetrator of such crime or offense. If the alleged victim is deceased as a result of such crime or offense, the next of kin of such victim shall be treated as the alleged victim for purposes of this paragraph.

Anti-Retaliation/Anti-Intimidation Policy

The University strictly prohibits retaliation against and intimidation of any person because of his or her reporting of an incident of sexual misconduct or involvement in the University's response. The University will take strong disciplinary action in response to any retaliation or intimidation. The University will pursue such discipline through the applicable student conduct policy or other disciplinary process and follow the applicable time frames within such policies or processes.

For more information about the Student Disciplinary Process see University Policy 10.2.11 – Code of Student Conduct.

University Disciplinary Process for Employee Workplace Violence and Harassment

Rutgers University is committed to fostering an academic, work, and living environment that promotes the achievement of its mission of teaching, research, and service. To accomplish this goal, student employees, faculty, and staff are expected to behave in a fashion that promotes a community free from violence, threats of violence, harassment, intimidation, and disruptive behavior of a violent or intimidating nature. In a national culture that is becoming increasingly more violent, the issue of workplace violence has received attention across the country. While this type of conduct is not pervasive at the University, no workplace is immune.

Rutgers University prohibits workplace violence. Specifically, the University will respond promptly and in accordance with this policy to violence, threats of violence, harassment, intimidation, or disruptive behavior of a threatening nature towards people or property. Complaints involving workplace violence will be given the serious attention they

PRIMARY PREVENTION PROGRAM COMPONENTS

Rutgers encourages all students and employees to take responsibility for creating a safe campus community. Nationally, between 20 to 25 percent of college women experience sexual assault prior to graduation, and victimization rates for stalking and dating violence are similarly high. Men, too, experience victimization. These primary prevention programs to prevent dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking include both primary prevention and awareness programs directed at incoming students and new employees as well as ongoing prevention and awareness campaigns directed at students and employees.

Primary prevention programs mean programming, initiatives, and strategies informed by research or assessed for value, effectiveness, or outcome that are intended to stop dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking before they occur through the promotion of positive and healthy behaviors that foster healthy, mutually respectful relationships and sexuality, encourage safe bystander intervention, and seek to change behavior and social norms in healthy and safe directions.

Awareness programs mean community-wide or audience-specific programming, initiatives, and strategies that increase audience knowledge and share information and resources to prevent violence, promote safety, and reduce perpetration.)

These programs are culturally relevant, inclusive of diverse communities and identities, sustainable, responsive to community needs, and informed by research or assessed for value, effectiveness, or outcome; and consider environmental risk and protective factors as they occur on the individual, relationship, institutional, community, and societal levels.

Primary prevention programs includes programming, initiatives, and strategies which are culturally relevant, inclusive of diverse communities and identities, sustainable, responsive to community needs, and informed by research or assessed for value, effectiveness, or outcome that are intended to stop dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking before they occur through the promotion of positive and healthy behaviors that foster healthy, mutually respectful relationships and sexuality, encourage safe bystander intervention, and seek to change behavior and social norms in healthy and safe directions. Further these programs consider environmental risk and protective factors as they occur on the individual, relationship, institutional, community, and societal levels. These programs minimally:

- Contains clear definitions of sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking as crimes and violations of the student code with penalties;
- Promotes the interruption of myth acceptance by providing education about sexual assault, dating violence, stalking from a factual base;
- Provides information about on- and off-campus services available to victims and how they can access those services, which can include but do not require the option to report;
- Provides information about local, state, and national victimization data;
- Encourages safe and positive options for bystander intervention that may be carried out by an individual to prevent harm or to intervene;
- Provides information on risk reduction to recognize warning signs of abusive behavior and how to avoid potential attacks;
- Prevention programs are informed by research or assessed for value, effectiveness, or outcome in order to ensure that the effort is an appropriate strategy to prevent sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and/or stalking.

PRIMARY PREVENTION AND ONGOING AWARENESS PROGRAMS for Students

Student Affairs staff are available to consult, assist, and develop policies on sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking prevention programs. Student Affairs staff provide presentations and technical assistance to general student audiences, law enforcement, campus officials, and student leaders. They also provide confidential support and advocacy to victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking. For more information visit studentaffairs.rutgers.edu or vpva.rutgers.edu.

All undergraduate and graduate students (including incoming first year and transfer students) are expected to complete an online primary prevention program, called "Not Anymore" and receive additional prevention materials during orientation. "Not Anymore" is an interactive online program designed to prevent sexual assault, dating and domestic violence and stalking while helping Rutgers meet Campus SaVE Act (VAWA) and Title IX education mandates. For more information about the "Not Anymore" program, visit not-anymore.com.

The "SCREAM" in SCREAM Theater™ stands for Students Challenging Realities and Educating Against Myth. The theater group consists mostly of undergraduate students at Rutgers. SCREAM Theater™ is the peer education improvisational theater group associated with the Office for Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance at Rutgers University. The group uses interactive skits to educate audiences on issues of interpersonal violence, specifically on sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, sexual harassment, and bullying. Any student at Rutgers can join SCREAM Theater™ and perform with the ensemble or attend meetings and get involved in other ways.

At Rutgers, SCREAM Theater began in 1991 as a response to the University President's mandate that every incoming first-year-student participate in a program on sexual assault. Educators at Rutgers developed an innovative model for teaching students about sexual violence. This interactive program combined peer education and theater to produce a unique, exciting educational program. The goals of the theater program were:

- to educate students about sexual violence,
- to promote critical thinking and values clarification,
- to encourage positive peer pressure on students for healthy behavior choices,
- to reach the people who needed to hear this message, and
- to use peers to deliver the message.

Since 1992, all incoming students have been required to view a SCREAM Theater program. Since then, the program has grown to become a comprehensive educational tool that explores a broad range of interpersonal violence issues including: sexual assault, dating violence, same sex violence, stalking, peer sexual harassment, and bullying. Additional information about the SCREAM Theater program, including how to request a performance or get involved can be found at:

vpva.rutgers.edu/scream-theater-and-scream-athletes/what-is-scream-theater

Rutgers Office for Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance (VPVA) also hosts ongoing events, lectures, discussions, and campaigns to raise awareness about sexual assault and dating violence on campus. Thousands of students are served each year. VPVA also sponsors many educational events during the national awareness months of domestic violence, stalking, and sexual assault, October, January, and April, respectively. For more information, visit vpva.rutgers.edu.

The New Jersey Division of Children and Families' Division on Women (DOW), Office of Domestic Violence Services (ODVS) funds 23 domestic violence programs and the New Jersey Coalition for Battered Women. There is at least one DCF-designated lead domestic violence program in each of the 21 counties that provides core services. Additional information about these programs can be found at: www.state.nj.us/dcf/women/domestic.

Several academic courses on these topics are available in various departments to students, including kinesiology (self-defense) and social work (primary prevention through peer education). Check the course catalog each semester for more information.

Presentations are available upon request from the VPVA, Rape Crisis Centers and Women aware. Visit vpva.rutgers.edu for more information about these annual programs.

The University has developed an annual educational campaign consisting of presentations that include distribution of educational materials to new students; participating in and presenting information and materials during new employee orientation.

Ongoing educational campaigns include:
SCREAM Theater | Silent witness | Healing the Wounded Heart | Empty Chair | Clothesline Project | Denim Day |
Unlawful Harassment Prevention Program

Faculty/Staff

Faculty and staff who wish to learn more about sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking or who wish to schedule professional development in these areas should contact the Rutgers Office of Employment Equity (OEE) for a consultation and list of upcoming events. OEE staff are available to provide or coordinate training upon request.

OEE provides in-person training on harassment, discrimination, and disability issues in the workplace for departments, units, and groups. The Office also oversees the Unlawful Harassment Prevention program, which is an interactive online course. The course is available in different versions for faculty, supervisory staff and non-supervisory staff. For additional information please visit: <http://uhr.rutgers.edu/uhr-units-offices/office-employment-equity/unlawful-harassment-prevention-program>.

The Dean of Students Office can provide training upon request about reporting requirements for sexual assault, dating violence and stalking.

Staff and faculty should contact the Office of Employment Equity (OEE) to get information about how to prevent and respond to sexual harassment at <http://uhr.rutgers.edu/uhr-units-offices/office-employment-equity>.

How to be an Active Bystander

Bystander intervention means safe and positive options that may be carried out by an individual or individuals to prevent harm or intervene when there is a risk of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking. Bystander intervention includes recognizing situations of potential harm, understanding institutional structures and cultural conditions that facilitate violence, overcoming barriers to intervening, identifying safe and effective intervention options, and taking action to intervene.

Bystanders play a critical role in the prevention of sexual and relationship violence. They are “individuals who observe violence or witness the conditions that perpetuate violence. They are not directly involved but have the choice to intervene, speak up, or do something about it.” We want to promote a culture of community accountability where bystanders are actively engaged in the prevention of violence without causing further harm. We may not always know what to do even if we want to help. Below is a list of some ways to be an active bystander.

- 1 If you or someone else is in immediate danger, dial 911. This could be when a person is yelling at or being physically abusive towards another and it is not safe for you to interrupt.
- 2 Watch out for your friends and fellow students/employees. If you see someone who looks like they could be in trouble or need help, ask if they are ok.
- 3 Confront people who seclude, hit on, try to make out with, or have sex with people who are incapacitated.
- 4 Speak up when someone discusses plans to take sexual advantage of another person.
- 5 Believe someone who discloses sexual assault, abusive behavior, or experience with stalking.
- 6 Refer people to on or off campus resources listed in this document for support in health, counseling, or with legal assistance.

Risk Reduction

Risk reduction means options designed to decrease perpetration and bystander inaction, and to increase empowerment for victims in order to promote safety and to help individuals and communities address conditions that facilitate violence.

The following are some strategies to reduce one's risk violence (taken from Rape, Abuse, & Incest National Network, www.rainn.org)

1. Be aware of your surroundings. Knowing where you are and who is around you may help you to find a way to get out of a bad situation.
2. Try to avoid isolated areas. It is more difficult to get help if no one is around.
3. Walk with purpose. Even if you don't know where you are going, act like you do.
4. Trust your instincts. If a situation or location feels unsafe or uncomfortable, it probably isn't the best place to be.
5. Try not to load yourself down with packages or bags as this can make you appear more vulnerable.
6. Make sure your cell phone is with you and charged and that you have cash money.
7. Don't allow yourself to be isolated with someone you don't trust or someone you don't know.
8. Avoid putting music headphones in both ears so that you can be more aware of your surroundings, especially if you are walking alone.
9. When you go to a social gathering, go with a group of friends. Arrive together, check in with each other throughout the evening, and leave together. Knowing where you are and who is around you may help you to find a way out of a bad situation.
10. Trust your instincts. If you feel unsafe in any situation, go with your gut. If you see something suspicious, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.).
11. Don't leave your drink unattended while talking, dancing, using the restroom, or making a phone call. If you've left your drink alone, just get a new one.
12. Don't accept drinks from people you don't know or trust. If you choose to accept a drink, go with the person to the bar to order it, watch it being poured, and carry it yourself. At parties, don't drink from the punch bowls or other large, common open containers.
13. Watch out for your friends, and vice versa. If a friend seems out of it, is way too intoxicated for the amount of alcohol they've had, or is acting out of character, get him or her to a safe place immediately.
14. If you suspect you or a friend has been drugged, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.). Be explicit with doctors so they can give you the correct tests (you will need a urine test and possibly others).
15. If you need to get out of an uncomfortable or scary situation here are some things that you can try:
  - Remember that being in this situation is not your fault. You did not do anything wrong, it is the person who is making you uncomfortable that is to blame.
  - Be true to yourself. Don't feel obligated to do anything you don't want to do. "I don't want to" is always a good enough reason. Do what feels right to you and what you are comfortable with.
  - Have a code word with your friends or family so that if you don't feel comfortable you can call them and communicate your discomfort without the person you are with knowing. Your friends or family can then come to get you or make up an excuse for you to leave.
  - Lie. If you don't want to hurt the person's feelings it is better to lie and make up a reason to leave than to stay and be uncomfortable, scared, or worse. Some excuses you could use are: needing to take care of a friend or family member, not feeling well, having somewhere else that you need to be, etc.
16. Try to think of an escape route. How would you try to get out of the room? Where are the doors? Windows? Are there people around who might be able to help you? Is there an emergency phone nearby?
17. If you and/or the other person have been drinking, you can say that you would rather wait until you both have your full judgment before doing anything you may regret later.

ZERO TOLERANCE FOR HARASSMENT

Rutgers University takes harassment very seriously. It has dedicated substantial resources to investigate and resolve claims of harassment and to protect victims of harassment. The Office of Employment Equity was created to coordinate the university's response to incidents of harassment and discrimination on campus.

Rutgers is committed to maintaining a diverse academic, work and living environment free from harassment based on an individual's race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability, marital or veteran status, and other protected classes listed in the university's Policy Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment. The university requires that all students, faculty and staff adhere to the law and university policies aimed at preventing harassment and discrimination.

Harassment is defined as any conduct directed toward an individual or group based on membership in one or more of the protected classes covered in the university's non-discrimination policy that creates an intimidating, offensive or hostile environment and is sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter an individual's employment conditions, educational environment, living environment or participation in a university activity. Sexual harassment is a type of discrimination and can take many forms, although it often contains an inappropriate use of power or control. If you feel that you are being harassed because of one of the traits noted above, contact the Rutgers Police Department. We also encourage you to contact the Office of Employment Equity at 732-932-3973.

In addition to any police investigation and/or an investigation by the Office of Employment Equity, you may be referred to a University Advisor who is trained in handling harassment issues and who can guide you through the process and help you determine the course of action that you want to take. The Advisor can also assist you in handling a harassing situation less formally, or even anonymously, if appropriate.

POLICY AGAINST VERBAL ASSAULT, HARASSMENT, INTIMIDATION, BULLYING, and DEFAMATION

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is committed to fostering an environment that is safe and secure and free from sexual and gender-based discrimination and harassment, sexual violence, dating and domestic violence, stalking and other related misconduct. The University recognizes its responsibility to increase awareness of such misconduct, prevent its occurrence, support victims, deal fairly and firmly with offenders, and diligently investigate reports of misconduct. In addressing these issues, all members of the University must come together to respect and care for one another in a manner consistent with our deeply held academic and community values.

Intolerance, bigotry, and bullying are antithetical to the values of the university, and unacceptable within the Rutgers community. One of the ways the university seeks to effect this value is through a policy of nondiscrimination, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, ancestry, disability, marital status, civil union status, domestic partnership status, atypical heredity or cellular blood trait, military service or veteran status in university programs. In order to reinforce institutional goals of nondiscrimination, tolerance, and civility, the following policy against verbal assault, harassment, intimidation, bullying, and defamation is intended to inform students that the verbal assault, harassment, intimidation, bullying and defamation of others violates acceptable standards of conduct within the university.

Discrimination is defined as an intentional or unintentional act which adversely affects employment or educational opportunities on the basis of membership in one or more protected classes. Rutgers provides equal employment opportunity to all its employees and applicants for employment regardless of their race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity and expression, disability, genetic information, atypical hereditary cellular or blood trait, marital status, civil union status, domestic partnership status, military service, veteran status, and any other category protected by law. Rutgers considers as a basis for selection in employment only those characteristics which are demonstrably related to job performance or requirements.

Harassment is conduct directed toward an individual or group based on membership in one or more protected classes. Such conduct must be sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter an individual's employment conditions, or a student's educational opportunities which, in turn, creates an unreasonably intimidating, offensive, or hostile environment for employment, education, or participation in University activities.

A person does not have to be the direct and immediate target of harassment to complain about it. Harassing behavior toward others may be so offensive, demeaning, or disruptive as to constitute a hostile work or academic environment, though not specifically directed at the observer or individual lodging the complaint. Conduct alleged to constitute harassment will be evaluated according to the objective standard of a reasonable person.

The Rutgers University-Camden Office of Housing and Residence Life employs an Area Coordinator, who is a full-time professional that lives on campus and serves as an administrator on-call. The Area Coordinator supervises seventeen resident assistants (RAs) across the three residential buildings. There are 3 live-in graduate students who also serve in the administrator on-call role as support to the RAs. These professional and student staff live and work in the buildings, and are on-duty every evening and weekend throughout the year. They contribute to the overall safety of the on-campus community by proactively explaining expectations and policies to students, conducting building rounds each evening to monitor student activity, and providing opportunities for students to engage in their community in positive, inclusive ways. All of the student and professional staff have direct access to the Director of Housing & Residence Life who also is on-call at all times.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY-NEWARK & RBHS at Newark

Woodward Hall, Talbott Apartments, University Square, 15 Washington, and 180 West Market Street have professional and student staff members who live and work in the buildings. A staff member is on duty from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. each night to address students' concerns. After that, the staff members remain on call until 8 a.m. the next morning to assist with emergency situations. On the weekends, staff members remain in the buildings on call via the Security Officer.

REGISTERED SEX OFFENDER

POLICY STATEMENT

As provided in the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act is passed as part of the Federal Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 and Megan's Law (N.J.S.A. 2C: 7-1 et seq.), any person required to register under a state sex offender registration program must notify the state regarding each institution of higher education in the state of which the person is employed, carries on a vocation, or is a student. Additionally sex offenders must alert the state of any change in their enrollment or employment status.

The federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act requires institutions of higher education to issue a statement advising the campus community where information concerning registered sex offenders may be obtained. It also requires offenders, already required by state law to register in a state, to provide notice to each institution of higher education in that state, at which the person is employed, carries on a vocation or is a student.

In New Jersey, convicted sex offenders must personally register, re-register, and verify their address with their local or state police in the municipality where they reside. You can link to this information which appears on the NJ State Police Website at <http://www.njsp.org/sex-offender-registry/index.shtml>.

There you can find a multitude of resources regarding sex offenders and their registration requirements

POSSESSION OF WEAPONS

All Rutgers University police officers and their supervisors carry firearms while on duty. In accordance with state law, no one other than commissioned law enforcement personnel, military personnel while on duty, and others authorized under NJS 2C:39-6 may carry firearms on campus.

PREVIOUS CRIMINAL RECORDS

Except for applicants to some graduate schools, which may include criminal history checks, prospective students are asked to voluntarily disclose previous criminal records. A background investigation is conducted of all RUPD personnel before they are hired.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Rutgers Police enforce all state (NJSA 2C:33-15a) and local laws regarding the possession, use, and sale of alcoholic beverages, including those prohibiting the consumption of alcoholic beverages by persons under age 21. It is the policy of Rutgers University that the sale, service, possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages on the Rutgers University campuses are regulated by federal and state laws and by local ordinances. All members of the University community are obligated to obey these laws, regulations and ordinances. Members of the University are individually responsible for determining how applicable laws, regulations and ordinances apply to them, and for obeying them. The enforcement of alcohol laws on-campus is the responsibility of the Rutgers University Police Department.

The use of alcohol is restricted at events sponsored by university groups. Generally, kegs of beer are not permitted in student residence halls except in the event of parties registered with and approved by the Office of Residence Life. Student attendance at registered parties is monitored and legal drinking age requirements enforced. The amount of alcohol that may be brought into a registered party is strictly controlled.

ILLEGAL DRUGS

It is the Policy of the Rutgers University that no member of the university community may possess, manufacture, sell or use drugs, narcotics, or controlled substances and/or paraphernalia containing evidence of such substances on university property except as expressly permitted by law. ## DRUG AND ALCOHOL EDUCATION AND TREATMENT PROGRAMS

As an institution of higher education, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey is dedicated to providing the best academic experience possible for all students in a campus environment that maximizes their ability to succeed. Throughout its history, Rutgers has been committed to sustaining an academic culture that both respects individual freedom and promotes the health, safety, and well-being of all members of the university community. The adverse consequences of the misuse and abuse of alcohol and other drugs represents one of the most serious problems on university campuses today. Thus, Rutgers takes seriously its commitment to maintaining a healthy and safe campus environment that includes the regulation of alcohol and other drugs. Rutgers is committed to an environmental management approach that includes education, prevention, intervention, enforcement, treatment, and recovery support.

When students choose to accept admission to Rutgers University, they accept the rights and responsibilities of membership in the university's academic and social community. The university expects all members of the community to take responsibility for their own actions and to act to reduce risks of damage and harm to themselves and to others. Moreover, the university expects every member of our community to use good judgment, common sense, and compassion for one another.

The misuse and abuse of alcohol and other drugs constitutes a threat to the educational mission of the university. Rutgers seeks to provide an environment that reduces or eliminates the adverse consequences of alcohol and other drug misuse and abuse on individuals, groups, and the university as well as respects the rights of those who choose not to consume alcohol or other drugs for any reason. This includes encouraging healthy lifestyles that prevent and discourage underage drinking. Thus, specific procedures have been developed for the use of alcohol and other drugs and will be strictly enforced.

The university is committed to raising awareness about the potential negative consequences of alcohol and other drug use including substance use disorders. Education is an intrinsic component of the university's commitment to reduce or eliminate the harm caused by excessive alcohol and other drug use. In addition, the university recognizes that addiction is a treatable illness and encourages anyone who may have a substance use disorder to seek treatment. This policy is not designed to be punitive for students seeking treatment. Comprehensive health education and mental health services for students (including alcohol and other drug treatment) are provided on all university campuses. This policy should not be a barrier to students getting help for themselves or for other students.

As an institution of higher education and an employer, Rutgers is obligated to abide by and enforce provisions in the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act, Smoke-Free Air Act, and State of New Jersey Statutes.

The Alcohol and Other Drug Education Program for Training (ADEPT) is available for students, faculty, and staff throughout the university. Skilled student alcohol and drug educators lead programs and workshops upon request for student organizations, residence halls, and classes. In addition, the Rutgers University Police address the abuse of alcohol as it relates to driving while intoxicated, sexual assault, and other abusive behaviors in their crime prevention programs.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (20 USC § 1092(F)) is the landmark federal law, originally known as the Campus Security Act, that requires colleges and universities across the United States to disclose information about crime on and around their campuses. Since the law is tied to participation in federal student financial aid programs it applies to most institutions of higher education both public and private. It is enforced by the U.S. Department of Education.

The “Clery Act” is named in memory of 19 year old Lehigh University freshman Jeanne Ann Clery who was raped and murdered while asleep in her residence hall room on April 5, 1986. Jeanne’s parents, Connie and Howard, discovered that students hadn’t been told about 38 violent crimes on their daughter’s campus in the three years before her murder. They joined other campus crime victims and persuaded Congress to enact this law, which was originally known as the “Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990.” There have been numerous amendments since that time added as provisions to protect crime victims.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act requires the distribution of an annual security report to all current faculty, staff, and students and notice of its availability to prospective students, faculty, and staff. The purpose of this report is to inform current and potential Rutgers University community members of crime, arrest and referral statistics, of current crime response, reporting, prevention and awareness policies, including policies regarding sexual assault domestic violence, dating violence and stalking, of campus disciplinary policies and relevant state laws, and of campus safety and security. This Annual Security and Fire Safety Report includes crime, arrest and referral statistics for the previous three years concerning reported crimes that occurred on campus, in certain off-campus buildings or property owned or controlled by the Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, and on public property within, or immediately adjacent to, and accessible from, the campus. The Fire Report at the end the document contains the Rutgers University housing fire safety protocols and fire statistics for the previous three calendar years.

Under Clery, a crime is “reported” when it is brought to the attention of a campus security authority or local law enforcement personnel by a victim, witness, other third party or even the offender. If a campus security authority receives a report, he or she must include it as a crime report using the procedures established by the university. It doesn’t matter whether or not the individuals involved in the crime, or reporting the crime, are associated with the institution. Statistics are gathered through reports to the Rutgers University Police Department (RUPD), the Division of Student Affairs, University Housing, the Office for Equity and Diversity, Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, and other Campus Security Authorities. The RUPD also requests crime statistics from state and local law enforcement agencies that may have jurisdiction over property which is owned or controlled by Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey. The RUPD collaborates with various offices throughout the University in compiling the crime, arrest and referral statistics to ensure statistics are not missed or double counted. A copy of this report is disseminated to faculty, staff, and students in an e-mail sent at the beginning of the fall, spring and summer semesters. Crimes are classified using the FBI Uniformed Crime Reporting Handbook, except for sex offenses which are defined by the National Incident Based Reporting System Handbook. New Jersey law is used to define drug, liquor and weapons law violations, as well as incidents of domestic violence.

Here are some helpful definitions for reading the charts:

On-campus property is defined as any building or property owned or controlled by an institution within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area and used by the institution in direct support of, or in a manner related to, the institution’s educational purposes, including residence halls; and any building or property that is within or reasonably contiguous to above that is owned by the institution but controlled by another person, frequently used by students, and supports institutional purposes (such as a food or other retail vendor.) Note: For the purposes of this report, university housing facilities are recorded in the category of on-campus as well as residential facilities.

On-campus residence hall is defined as any student housing facility that is owned or controlled by the institution, or is located on property that is owned or controlled by the institution, and is within the reasonably contiguous geographic area that makes up the campus.

Public property is defined as all public property, including thoroughfares, streets, sidewalks, and parking facilities, that is within the campus, or immediately adjacent to and accessible from campus.

Non-campus property is defined as any building or property owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the institution; or any building or property that is owned or controlled by an institution that is used in direct support of, or in relation to, the institution’s educational purposes, is frequently used by students and is not within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution.

Understanding VAWA Offenses

On March 7, 2013, President Obama signed the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 (VAWA) (Pub. Law 113-4), which, among other provisions, amended section 485(f) of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended (HEA), otherwise known as the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (Clery Act). The Clery Act requires institutions of higher education to comply with certain campus safety- and security-related requirements as a condition of participating in the Federal student financial aid programs authorized by Title IV of the HEA. Notably, VAWA amended the Clery Act to require institutions to compile statistics for incidents of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking and to include certain policies, procedures, and programs pertaining to these incidents in their annual security reports (ASRs).

Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act (SaVE)

The Campus Sexual Violence Elimination (SaVE) Act refers to Section 304 of the recently reauthorized Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) which was signed into law by President Obama on March 7, 2014. The Campus SaVE Act amends the Clery Act, which addresses campus sexual assault policies within the Higher Education Act of 1965. Thus, what is referred to as the Campus SaVE Act IS the Clery Act and the amendments serve as a complement to Title IX requirements.

The Campus SaVE Act increases transparency on campus about incidents of sexual violence, guarantees victims enhanced rights, sets standards for disciplinary proceedings, and requires campus-wide prevention education programs. The Act also broadens the requirement to mandate fuller reporting of sexual violence to include incidents of domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking.

Rutgers University complies with all of the requirements of the VAWA amendments, including the Campus SaVE Act, and as such, includes statistics for the reported offenses of Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking in the Annual Security and Fire Safety Report.

The full text of the VAWA amendments can be located at:

<https://www.federalregister.gov/articles/2014/10/20/2014-24284/violence-against-women-act>

Explanation of Referrals

Arrest and Referral for Disciplinary Action

Arrest is defined as persons processed by arrest, citation or summons. Referral for disciplinary action is defined as the referral of any person to any official who initiates a disciplinary action of which a record is kept and which may result in the imposition of a sanction. The disciplinary action may, but does not have to, result in a sanction and the action can be initiated in an informal as well as formal manner. Clery Act statistics are disclosed for arrests and referrals regarding liquor law violations, drug law violations, and illegal weapons possession. Only violations of the law resulting in arrest or referral are disclosed. Violations of institutional policy alone are not included in Clery Act statistics.

Liquor Law Violation: The violation of State or local laws or ordinances prohibiting the manufacture, sale, purchase, transportation, possession, or use of alcoholic beverages, not including driving under the influence and drunkenness.

Drug Law Violation: The violation of Federal, State or local laws prohibiting the production, distribution, and/or use of certain controlled substances and the equipment or devices utilized in their preparation and/or use. The unlawful cultivation, manufacture, distribution, sale, purchase, use, possession, transportation, or importation of any controlled drug or narcotic substance.

Weapon Law Violation: The violation of laws or ordinances prohibiting the manufacture, sale, purchase, transportation, possession, concealment, or use of firearms, cutting instruments, explosives, incendiary devices, or other deadly weapons.

OFFENSE	DEFINED AS:
Consent	According to New Jersey law, age, physical impairment and mental impairment all contribute to a person's ability to give consent. A person must be 16 years of age to legally consent to sexual activity. A person cannot give consent to sexual activity with someone who has "the duty to care" for them unless they are over the age of 18. Individuals that fall into "the duty to care" category would include parents or guardians, and those in any type of formal supervisory role. If individuals are between the ages of 13 and 15 they can legally consent to sexual activity with a partner who is not more than 4 years older. An individual who is physically or mentally impaired may not be able to give consent to sexual activity. Physical or mental impairment may include: visual, speech or hearing impairment, cognitive impairment; being unconscious or asleep; or being under the influence of alcohol or other substance(s) to the point of being unable to make a decision.
Aggravated Assault	An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. It is not necessary that injury result from an aggravated assault when a gun, knife, or other weapon is used which could or probably would result in a serious potential injury if the crime were successfully completed.
Simple Assault	An unlawful physical attack by one person upon another where neither the offender displays a weapon, nor the victim suffers obvious severe or aggravated bodily injury involving apparent broken bones, loss of teeth, possible internal injury, severe lacerations, or loss of consciousness.
Arson	The willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, or personal property of another kind.
Burglary	The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.
Motor Vehicle Theft	The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle. (Classify as motor vehicle theft all cases where automobiles are taken by persons not having lawful access even though the vehicles are later abandoned-including joy riding).
Weapon Law Violations	The violation of laws or ordinances dealing with weapon offenses, regulatory in nature, such as: manufacture, sale, or possession of deadly weapons; carrying deadly weapons, concealed or openly; furnishing deadly weapons to minors; aliens possessing deadly weapons; all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.
Drug Abuse Violations	Violations of state and local laws relating to the unlawful possession, sale, use, growing, manufacturing, and making of narcotic drugs. The relevant substances include: opium or cocaine and their derivatives (morphine, heroin, codeine); marijuana; synthetic narcotics (Demerol, methadones); and dangerous non-narcotic drugs (barbiturates, Benzedrine).
Liquor Law Violations	The violation of laws or ordinance prohibiting: the manufacture, sale, transporting, furnishing, possessing of intoxicating liquor; maintaining unlawful drinking places; bootlegging; operating a still; furnishing liquor to minor or intemperate person; using a vehicle for illegal transportation of liquor; drinking on a train or public conveyance; all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.

OFFENSE	DEFINED AS:
Hate Crimes	The law requires the release of statistics by category of prejudice concerning the occurrence of hate crimes in the crime classifications listed in the preceding section and for other crimes involving bodily injury to any person in which the victim is selected because of the actual or perceived race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, ethnicity, or disability of the victim. In August of 2008 HEOA S 488, 20 U.S.C. S 1092 (f) (1) F (ii) modified the above hate crimes to include the following: larceny/theft; threats/intimidation and simple assaults.
Threats	To unlawfully place another person in reasonable fear of bodily harm through the use of threatening words and/or other conduct, but without displaying a weapon or subjecting the victim to actual physical attack.
Unfounded	A report to law enforcement authorities which through investigation by a sworn officer is found to be false or baseless.

HATE CRIMES

Rutgers University seeks to foster a learning environment that exemplifies the inclusion of diverse persons and perspectives. Unfortunately no community is immune to problems that can arise as a result of various forms of bias. The definition of a bias crime as described by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Hate Crimes Collection Guidelines is:

A criminal offense committed against a person or property which is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender's bias against a race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, or ethnicity/national origin; also known as Hate Crime.

Hate crimes are not separate, distinct crimes, but rather traditional offenses such as harassment or arson that are motivated by the offender's bias. It is, therefore, unnecessary to create a whole new crime category to report this information. To the contrary, hate crime data instead is collected by merely capturing additional information about offenses already being reported to UCR.

Reporting a Bias Incident or Hate Crime

All members of the Rutgers University community are urged to promptly report to the Rutgers University Police Department any bias incident directed against a community member or group that occurred on-campus or at any Rutgers-sponsored off-campus event. A reported incident of bias crime will be thoroughly investigated and victims of a bias crime will be referred to the Office of Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance.

Penalties for Hate Crimes

Penalties for a conviction of a hate crime in the State of New Jersey are elevated by one category higher than the specified offense the defendant committed. Penalties for hate crimes are serious and range from fines to imprisonment depending on the nature of the underlying offense, the use of violence and any previous convictions of the offender.

For specific information regarding penalties refer to New Jersey Statute § 2C:16-1 (2002). In addition to any criminal penalties, members of the Rutgers University community found responsible for a hate crime are subject to disciplinary action which may include separation from the University.

RUTGERS POLICIES

Rutgers has several policies protecting its community. Please use the links below to access them.

COMPLAINT ABOUT AN OFFICER

Providing police and security services can often be a very difficult and complex job. The Rutgers University Police Department has established rules and regulations and standard operating procedures governing the professional and personal conduct of employees and acceptable work performance standards. These guidelines are designed to protect the well-being and the rights of all citizens and employees. What Will Happen to the Departmental Employee?

If the investigation indicates the employee has committed a violation of Department Policy, corrective action commensurate with the severity of the violation will be taken. Mitigating circumstances may be considered by the Chief of University Police in determining appropriate penalties. Action taken may involve:

Counseling (non-discipline) | Remedial training (non-discipline) | Written reprimand | Suspension | Reduction in rank | Termination

Complainants will be notified in writing by the Professional Standards Division when the complaint has been resolved, however the exact discipline imposed is a confidential personnel matter and will not be revealed to the complainant. Members of the department can appeal the decision of the Chief of University Police. In the event of a hearing, the complainant and witnesses may be called to testify.

SAFETY OF MINORS

Rutgers University serves more than 80,000 minors annually. University students, faculty, and staff interact with youth in many ways. You may be a coach, counselor, mentor, researcher, teacher, or volunteer. Perhaps you are with an outside group, such as a school or camp that brings kids to Rutgers.

The Protection of Minors website (<http://protectminors.rutgers.edu>) was designed to be a resource to provide you the necessary information to protect minors in university programs and on university premises.

University Policies & Guide to Working with Minors

If you manage, participate in, or oversee programs or activities involving minors, please review the University's Policy and Guide to Working with Minors. Any program involving minors or volunteers working within laboratories must also follow the laboratory safety policy established by Rutgers Environmental Health & Safety (REHS).

Reporting Incidents

In cases where you find yourself either a victim of or a witness to suspected criminal activities, you should take one or more of the following steps:

- Dial 9-1-1 to contact police in an emergency.
- Call the Rutgers Police Department for non-emergency situations.

Report any suspicion or knowledge of child abuse or neglect to the NJ Division of Children and Families at 1-877-NJ ABUSE (1-877-652-2873). New Jersey law requires that all persons who have reasonable cause to believe that a child has been subjected to child abuse or neglect must report it to DYFS. We also urge you to call the Rutgers Police Department.

Call the Rutgers Office for Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance at 732-932-1181 for assistance to victims of crimes or for confidential counseling about sexual assaults. Students may also contact the counseling center or the student health center on their campus.

Send an electronic message to the Rutgers Compliance Hotline or 1-800-215-9664 at to anonymously report suspicions of questionable financial practices or other unethical behavior.

You are also reminded that you can anonymously report information on suspected criminal activity by either calling the Rutgers University Police Department at your University location or calling Crime Stoppers at 1-800-939-9600.

The University is committed to not retaliating against any individual who reports a reasonable belief that there is a violation of law or policy. We strive to make Rutgers a community where we are safe in our educational and work environments.

CAMPUS FIRE SAFETY

Right-To-Know Report

Rutgers University publishes this annual report to comply with the reporting requirements contained in Section 485 of the Higher Education Act, Campus Fire Safety Right-to-Know.

This report will provide information such as statistics on fire related incidents and/or injuries that have occurred in residence halls, descriptions of each residence hall's fire safety system, number of fire evacuation drills performed, university fire safety policy and procedures and plans for future residence hall fire safety improvements.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Rutgers University Emergency Services at 848-932-4800 or by emailing ES@ipo.rutgers.edu

FIRE SAFETY

The University's Department of Emergency Services maintains a Fire Log of all fires occurring within university residence halls. Under this Act, a fire is defined as any instance of open flame or other burning in a place not intended to contain the burning or in an uncontrolled manner. Any occurrence of a fire must immediately be reported to University Public Safety.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

University buildings are equipped with fire extinguishers in accordance with the requirements of the construction code and/or fire safety codes. Students, faculty and staff are not expected to utilize these devices to fight fires due to the danger of their personal safety, which would result from attempting to extinguish a fire, the hazards associated with the products of combustion and the threat of a spreading fire.

A fire extinguisher may be utilized to clear a safe path to an exit or "shoot your way out" of a building if you are trapped. Before using a fire extinguisher, you should know how to properly select and operate one. Additional information can be obtained at:

FIRE AND LIFE SAFETY EDUCATION

Emergency Services provides fire safety educational opportunities during new student orientations, a fire safety lecture during evacuation drills and an online fire safety emergency action plan provided to all students. Specialized fire safety training can be provided upon request by calling the Training Bureau at 848-932-4800.

The Emergency Services Training Bureau also provides CPR, First Aid, Defensive Driving and many other safety related training courses.

FIRE EVACUATION DRILLS

As required by the New Jersey Uniform Fire Code, fire evacuation drills are conducted twice (2) a semester in residence halls. The first drill will occur within the first ten (10) days after the start of the semester. One (1) drill will be conducted during the hours after sunset or before sunrise and one (1) drill will be held during daylight hours. Fire Drills are conducted by staff from the Department of Emergency Services.

In 2014, 2015 and 2016 two drills per semester were conducted.

FIRE SAFETY SYSTEMS

2017 SAFETY MATTERS REPORT

RESIDENCE HALLS

Each residence hall is equipped with a variety of fire protection features as described below.

1. Fire suppression system – Every residence hall contains a complete automatic water based fire suppression (sprinkler) system.
2. Fire detection system – Every residence hall contains a full fire detection system consisting of smoke detection, heat detection, manual pull stations, water flow detection (sprinkler). Each fire alarm system is monitored 24 hours a day by the Rutgers Public Safety Communications Center. High rise residence halls contain all of the above components, but function slightly different during alarms. Buildings containing a high-rise fire alarm system configuration are indicated by an asterisk (*). Additionally, a detailed description of the high rise alarm system operations is included in this report.
3. Fire Extinguishers – Every Residence hall is equipped with fire extinguishers.

HIGH RISE FIRE ALARM SYSTEM OPERATIONS

High-rise buildings on campus have been upgraded to provide sophisticated state-of-the-art fire protection and life safety system. Since the design and operation of these systems depart from the familiar "evacuate the entire building" practice, occupants have felt the alarms were not operating properly. The confusion results from the special operation of a high-rise system as compared to that found in a "low-rise" structure. A high-rise building fire alarm system operates as follows:

1. Audible alarms consisting of a prerecorded evacuation message and a siren sound will activate on the floor where the alarm originated, the floor above, the floor below and within the elevator cars and exit stairways. Signals are not designed to sound on all floors; this operation is structured to limit the number of people in the stairways to enable safe movement.
2. Designated elevator cars will return to the first floor where the doors open and remain in that position for fire department use.
3. From within the fire command center, usually located on the first floor, the fire department has complete control over all building emergency systems. The commander may selectively cause the evacuation signals to sound on additional floors, may provide verbal directions or information through use of the public address function of the alarm system, may control the elevators and emergency power generator and may selectively control the smoke control systems.

If the fire alarm system should activate you should evacuate only if the signals are sounding on your floor. Experience gained from high-rise building fires resulted in the modern systems in use today. Evacuation of an entire building is contrary to recognized practice and creates greater life hazards. Please be assured that this type of fire alarm system does not compromise your safety. If you would like further information, call Emergency Services at 848-932-4800.

2017 SAFETY MATTERS REPORT

Classifications of Fires and Examples

Unintentional Fire: A fire that does not involve an intentional human act to ignite or spread fire into an area where the fire should not be.

Cause	Example
Cooking	Grease fire on stove top or in oven or microwave
Smoking Materials	Discarded lit cigarette butt
Open flames	Candles
Electrical	Electrical arcing, overheated electrical motor
Heating equipment	Heating stoves, space heaters, fireplaces, furnaces, water heaters
Hazardous products	Spontaneous combustion; chemical reaction
Machinery/Industrial	Heat from friction, (e.g., fan belts); cutting and welding
Natural	Fires that result from a natural phenomenon, such as lightning, tornadoes and earthquakes
Other	Fireworks (including sparklers), paper caps, party poppers, and firecrackers; sunlight (usually magnified through glass or a bottle); fires that start in a building that is not an on-campus student housing facility and spread to an on-campus student housing facility

Intentional Fire: A fire that is ignited, or that results from a deliberate action, in circumstances where the person knows there should not be a fire.

Example: Fire in a dorm restroom has been investigated by fire authorities and determined to be Arson. Perpetrator used matches to ignite paper towels.

Undetermined Fire: A fire in which the cause cannot be determined.

Example: Investigators cannot determine whether a couch was smoldering because someone accidentally dropped a lighted cigarette behind a cushion, or because someone intentionally set it on fire.

The 2015 Fire Safety Statistics begin on page 106.

FIRE SAFETY POLICIES

The following regulations were established to maintain a safe living environment for students residing in Rutgers University housing, whether in dormitory, suite or apartment style residences. It is expected that all residents comply with these rules, which are provided for the safety of all occupants. University fire safety regulations are enforced by certified Fire Inspectors from the Department of Emergency Services. In addition to enforcing these regulations, University Fire Inspectors are also responsible for the inspection of all University buildings in accordance with the provisions of the New Jersey State Uniform Fire Code.

Students found to have violated any of the below policies will be issued a Notice of Fire Safety Violation documenting the offense. In addition, the student will be referred to the appropriate Residence Life Office for disciplinary action. Students will be issued a Fire Code Violation Follow-Up Form, which must be completed and returned to Residence Life verifying that the violation has been corrected. Failure to return the forms will result in a consultation with the Residence Life staff. Students who violate the fire code violation a second time will be placed on probation and/or other appropriate sanction as determined by an Administrative Hearing/Conference. Students who are found to have violated the fire safety regulations a third time may be removed from residence.

When a Notice of Fire Safety Violation is issued, wherever possible, it is issued to the student responsible for the violation. When it is not apparent to the Fire Inspector which student is responsible, the Notice of Fire Safety Violation will be issued to all occupants of the room. While not all students may be responsible for creating the Fire Code Violation, all students have the responsibility to know and understand the policies regarding Fire Safety and insuring that items in the room do not pose a fire hazard. In these circumstances, all students are responsible for insuring the violation has been corrected and for the appropriate follow-up with Residence Life.

Students who believe their involvement has been inaccurately documented must submit an explanation in writing and return it to the Residence Life staff member within 10 days of the Notice of Fire Safety Violation issuance. This information will be reviewed in conjunction with information provided by the other roommates as well as the fire inspector. If a student is found to not be responsible for the violation, the roommate will assume the full responsibility for correcting the violation. Residents must discontinue use of cited hazards immediately, but are allowed seven (7) working days to remove the prohibited item(s) from the residence hall.

In addition to university sanctions, residents are reminded that under the provisions of the New Jersey Uniform Fire Code (N.J.A.C. 5:70-2.13) they may be held financially liable for the actual costs of extinguishing a fire directly, or indirectly, caused by a violation which had been cited and remained unabated at the time of the fire and additional dedicated and compensatory penalties in accordance with N.J.A.C. 5:70-2.12A.

Mandatory Evacuation of Residence Halls during Fire Alarm Activation

All building occupants are advised that pursuant to University and State fire safety regulations, upon the activation of the building fire alarm system all occupants are required to immediately evacuate the building and to remain outside until directed to return by the fire official in command at the scene. This regulation pertains to residents of dormitory buildings, suites, and university apartments, whether occupied by undergraduate or graduate students.

FIRE SAFETY REGULATIONS

The following is a list of items or actions that are not permitted in Residence Halls in accordance with the University Fire Safety Regulations:

- Bed or furniture reducing the required width of the exit
- Items hanging from the sprinkler head or pipe, heat detector, smoke detector or alarm horn
- Electrical wiring that is "homemade" or otherwise modified
- Unattended cooking, burning candle, or other open flame
- Bicycle chained to the exit way element
- Presence of candles of any type or form, oil lamp, or incense
- Tampering with building fire alarm system
- Discharge of Fire Extinguisher
- Failure to evacuate building during an actual fire alarm or evacuation drill
- Gasoline powered motorbike within building
- Presence or evidence of prohibited electrical appliances. Hot Pot/Plate, Toaster oven, Halogen Lamp, Microwave (Other than University Supplied) Wok, Rice Cooker
- Excessive quantity of combustible materials on walls or ceilings. Posters, fish nets or tapestry
- Overloading of electrical receptacles, "cube taps", unfused power strip or surge protector
- Accumulations of flammable liquids or materials.
- Evidence of smoking (Smoking is not permitted in any university building)
- Electrical cords over 6 feet in length

PROHIBITED APPLIANCES AND OTHER ITEMS

The following items are prohibited in ALL apartments, suites, and dormitory rooms. These items are responsible for actual fire occurrences in college and university housing units throughout the United States.

- Space heaters
- Hot plates
- Immersion coils
- Hot pots not meeting University specification (listed below)
- Candles of any type (The use of candles in university housing rooms, for religious purposes, is prohibited due to the fire hazard this practice creates. Alternative appliances, electrically powered, exist to permit the resident to observe religious holidays without creating a fire hazard.)
- Oil lamps
- Fireworks/Sparklers
- Incense
- Smoke bombs
- Chemicals
- Wall hangings made from flammable materials such as burlap, tapestries, fish netting, flags, and wicker ornaments.
- Combustible materials attached to room ceilings are prohibited.
- Posters and decorations with combined coverage of more than one-third of the available wall space are not permitted.
- All flammable & combustible liquids including art supplies such as thinners
- Gasoline-powered items such as motorcycles, mopeds, or components.
- Electrical wiring that is "home made" or modified which creates a shock.
- Extension cords exceeding six (6) feet. All extension cords must be maintained exposed in plain view. Cords may not be run under rugs or closet doors, nor secured to building surfaces or furniture.

PROHIBITED APPLIANCES AND OTHER ITEMS

- Devices that overload electrical receptacles (more than three appliances per outlet, or multiple plug adapters or power strips with more than two cords attached). Fused, multi-outlet surge protectors commonly used for protection of personal computers are permitted. However, multi-outlet surge protectors may not be plugged into an existing power strip (piggybacking), nor shall more than one (1) fused multi-outlet power strip be plugged into a building wall outlet. Surge protectors or power strips without built-in fuses are not permitted.
- Light dimmers, ceiling fans, or any other device that replaces, adds to, or interferes with any building fixture.
- Combustible or plastic lampshades or light fixture covers.
- Torchiere lamps with Halogen bulbs, including lamps with guards. Halogen desk lamps and styles other than torchiere floor lamps are permitted.
- Traffic and road signs observed in university housing rooms will be reported to the campus University Police Department. Misappropriation of traffic and road signs may result in motor vehicle accidents, injuries, and even fatalities. Students in possession of traffic and road signs are subject to prosecution.

The following appliances are prohibited in all dormitory rooms; and in the bedrooms, bathrooms and living rooms of apartments:

- Electric toaster ovens
- Broilers
- Skillets
- Hot dog/hamburger cookers
- Electric woks
- Rice cookers
- Microwave ovens not provided by the University
- Cooking is not allowed in dormitory or suite rooms, nor in other than the kitchens of apartments.

PERMITTED APPLIANCES FOR USE IN APARTMENT KITCHENS ONLY

The following appliances are approved for use in the kitchens of university apartments ONLY. Approval is granted only if the appliance is Underwriters Lab (UL) listed and the unit is properly connected to the outlet.

- Microwave ovens
- Electric Woks
- Rice Cookers

PERMITTED APPLIANCES: ALL AREAS

The following are APPROVED for use in ALL areas:

- Popcorn Poppers
- Automatic Coffee Makers, such as "Mr. Coffee"
- Hot Pot Specification: Only hot pots meeting the following specification are permitted in university housing. Units purporting to be "automatic" have failed and caused fires here and at other colleges and universities. In order to be approved for use in resident halls, suites and apartments a hot pot or electric kettle must automatically shut itself off if the fluid boils off or if the pot is emptied. Usually, this type of pot does not contain a conventional heating element, but rather the water completes an electrical circuit between two conductors, which sustains the heating process. Further, approved hot pots must be capable of accepting only water. Units capable of heating soup, etc. are not approved. When in doubt, fire inspectors will conduct the following field test to determine compliance. The empty unit will be plugged in to a power source and turned "on". If the interior of the appliance heats up, the device fails the field test. When purchasing a hot pot for use in a university resident hall or apartment, first READ the precautionary messages. If the device or packaging states, "do not operate when empty", the unit is unapproved.

DECORATION FIRE SAFETY GUIDELINES (Including Holiday Decorations)

The following regulations have been established by the Rutgers Department of Emergency Services and are applicable in all university-owned residential buildings.

LIVE EVERGREEN TREES

- Natural cut evergreen trees are only permitted in resident halls when placed in a non-sleeping area, which is protected by an automatic sprinkler system.
- Cut evergreen trees must be placed in an appropriate tree stand.
- The water level must be checked daily.
- Loose needles and other debris must be removed from the tree before displayed.
- Should the fresh tree dry out, as evidenced by falling needles, it must be removed from the building immediately.
- The tree may not obstruct any corridor, exit doorway, or other means of egress.
- The tree may not be located near any heating vent or other heating device, which could cause the greenery to dry out prematurely.
- Only non-combustible trimmings are permitted.
- Prior to departure for winter recess, all evergreen trees and holiday decorations must be removed from the resident hall.
- Only UL listed lighting sets may be used, and they shall not be decorated with paper or other combustible materials.
- Decorative lights shall be turned off when occupants are not in the immediate area of the tree.

ARTIFICIAL HOLIDAY TREES

- Artificial holiday trees must bear Underwriter's Laboratory (UL) listing labels for fire resistance. Artificial trees meeting the above requirement are permitted in all areas, subject to the following safety guidelines.
- The artificial tree must be placed in a suitable stand to prevent it from falling.
- The tree may not obstruct any corridor, exit doorway, or other means of egress.

- No flammable decorations, combustible tree skirts or decorative gift packages may be placed on or under an artificial holiday tree except in an area protected by automatic sprinklers.
- Only UL listed lighting sets may be used, and they shall not be decorated with paper or other combustible materials.
- Only non-combustible trimmings are permitted.
- Prior to departure for Winter recess, all holiday decorations must be removed from the resident hall.
- Decorative lights shall be turned off when occupants are not in the immediate area of the tree.

HOLIDAY LIGHTING SETS

- All holiday lighting sets must bear UL listing tags.
- Lighting sets are prohibited in corridors.
- All lighting sets must be physically examined before use to detect frayed wiring and other conditions which might create a shock or fire hazard.
- Defective sets must be discarded; sets showing evidence of repair are not permitted in the resident hall.
- Lighting sets may be utilized on artificial trees, or placed around room windows.
- Lighting sets are prohibited around room doorways.
- All lighting sets displayed in sleeping rooms must be turned off when the room is unoccupied.
- Lighting sets displayed on artificial trees located in lounges must be turned off when the room is unoccupied during hours of darkness.
- Lighting sets may not be in contact with draperies, paper, or combustibles.
- Lighting sets may not be hung from ceilings.
- All electric lighting sets must be removed from the resident hall when departing for Winter Recess.

GENERAL DECORATION REGULATIONS

In corridors, only non-combustible materials are permitted on doors or walls to prevent a fire from obstructing a major exit way component. Readily ignitable materials such as evergreen branches, boughs, etc. are prohibited in sleeping areas as well as in hallways, corridors, stairwells, or other means of egress. Combustible party decorations, gift wrappings, etc. must be disposed of promptly after use in the dumpsters provided outside of the residential buildings. Items such as corn stalks, hay or straw or any other type of dried vegetation used for decoration is strictly prohibited. Candles in any form are prohibited throughout all resident halls and apartments. Electric light Menorahs are permitted.

PLANS FOR FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS

Housing has committed to continue, as funds are available, the annual process of upgrading residence hall fire alarm systems as needed. Typically a minimum of one (1) residence hall will be upgraded to current technology as funds are available. All current fire alarm systems meet the relevant codes and regulations. The process of upgrading systems is voluntary and continues the universities commitment to fire safety.
